Latest Quotations in the Portland Markets

Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

PORTLAND, June 21.—For the first time in many years the jobbing trade is unable to send out prices on canned fruit and vegetables at this time. Price lists under ordinary circumstances would have contained quotations two or three weeks ago, but California canners this year are holding back prices simply through necessity.

In the first place, there was a great destruction of stocks in San Francisco, and can factories also suffered extensively. Thence came a shortage of tins for the fruit and vegetable pack way below requirements.

Columbia River, Sound and Alaska salmon packers have taken nearly the entire output of can factories in the North so that the sudden demand from California could not be supplied to any extent from this source.

The apricot shortage, so far, is the principal one, though the asparagus pack very likely will be light, at least in regular trade-size tins.

Regarding the apricot situation, it is reported that buyers are scouring the state from one end to the other, picking up even the smallest lots, in an endeavor to make a showing.

Fresh Meats and Poultry. There were quite light receipts of dressed meats this morning, and only moderate supplies of poultry. Monday is customarily a dull day for these goods, and today is no exception to the rule. No change in prices is noted.

Eggs and Butter. The fact that Eastern eggs are coming to this market carload lots indicates an abnormal demand, or at least a much greater demand for the season of the year than was to have been expected earlier in the season. Prices are fairly well sustained, though 21c was frequently quoted along the street in spite of lighter receipts of Oregon ranch. The market justifies holding the quotation at 21@22c.
